The Year's Specials

The year had many specials. It started out as any other. Little did the students know that a year of refreshed school pride and spirit lay ahead of them, leading to success not only on the field, but in the classroom as well. Along with several new students,

This year was the most memorable ever.

•Keith Johnson

the school also received many new teachers. Homecoming proved to be a very special occasion. Homecoming week was more competitive than ever. It might not have been a banner year for every aspect of the school, but as the months began to draw the year of 1998 to a close, the students were truly able to look back on the months of memories with a new found pride. The year had many specials.

Kyle Henderson concentrates on catching a pass. He was one of the many players that led the Bulldogs to numerous victories.

The cheerleaders display their banner before the team bursts through it. This year's game was another success.

Desmond Brown, Jonathon Rutledge, and Gabe Rutledge display their spirit during Homecoming Week. Character Day was one of the many events held during the week.

Waiting with anticipation, auxiliary members think about their upcoming performance as they prepare to enter the field. With their assistance, the Troubadours always put on a spectacular show!

Students gaze toward the sky in awe while Mrs. Rogers announces the survivors and those who "cracked up". This year marked the 11th annual egg drop for the physical science students.

Laura Nannini, dressed as the lion in the Wizard of Oz, helped the sophomores receive third place in Character Day. The sophomores received second place at the end of the week.

The Main Course

Orange or blue? Brandon Hunt's face goes to war.

Joel Horton, Robert Tucker, and Bradley Lovejoy hold their breath while waiting to see if their eggs will be "survivors" of the annual egg drop. Survivors received A's and casualties received B's.

Kevin Conwell shares some advice with his "Little Brother" Antwon Batron. The Big Brother/ Big Sister program helped the freshmen feel welcome at MHS.

As usual, Theron Fisher Stadium overflows with people for the Homecoming pep rally. This was the most exciting day of the season for the Bulldogs.

People are the ingredients that make up the Bulldog Cafe. Begin with a dash of freshmen, a handful of sophomores, add a few juniors, and top it all off with a batch of seniors. The groups, friends, activities, and people that join them are what makes Montevallo High School the most delicious school around. Take all these ingredients and see what cooks up. They are what keep the customer (students) satisfied and coming back for more.

Senior Supreme

As Freshmen, we enter into high school hungry for knowledge. The main meal has come and gone, only to leave behind the sweetest dessert. We all came together as one to leave behind an unforgettable Homecoming Week. Coming together to win first place in every activity during the week was the sweetest dessert possible. We had our good times and bad. We laughed and cried together. Reality began to hit as we began to understand we were spending our last moments together as the Class of 1998. Our paths would take us down different roads. We go on not knowing if any of our paths would ever cross again. All we can do is make all the memories possible and cherish them. We came hungry, and we leave full of knowledge, friendship, and everlasting memories.

Junior Jubilee

The class of '99 was almost to the top. With one more year to go the class of '99 was becoming anxious. The year was chock full of tests from the exit exam, to ACT and SAT. Stirring in a variety of things, the juniors received their class rings and some were tapped into the National Honor Society. The junior year was full of surprises and great adventures. To top it all off the juniors raised money to help with the prom that they were finally able to attend. The juniors were busy as usual from cooking up the prom to cooling off after scoring well on the ACT or SAT. The year was busy, but everything came out of the oven just right!

Although Juniors came in third during homecoming week, they still had fun. They participated on dress up days as a variety of things, from Beanie Babies to Barbie.

Sophomore Souffle

Sophomore Souffles were rising to the top. They were on their way to becoming kings and queens of the capital, Montevallo High School. This ultimate dish has the ingredients of band members, cheerleaders, basketball players, and football players. This souffle had four strawberries to top it off: Cory Horton, Tiffany Goldsmith, Tomika Lilly, and Olivia Thompson. The sophomores were ready, willing, and able for Homecoming. They mastered second place in this competition. This Sophomore Souffle was cooked and ready to be served.

Sophomores Robert Hope and Courtney Brasher dance the night away at Homecoming. For many of the couples the night was both fun and meaningful.

Freshman Fritters

The Bulldog Café was proud to introduce its newest addition to the menu: "Freshman Fritters."

This delicious dish was served up with one annual Freshman egg drop, a generous helping of C.O.R.E projects, and most importantly one huge serving of homecoming spirit.

The first ingredient to this wonderful dish was the annual egg drop. This year's egg drop was a major success with devices serving and eggs plunging to their death from the roof of the main building.

The second ingredients were the C.O.R.E projects. These projects were designed to show the students organization and most importantly responsibility. During the year the students had to complete four of these projects. Last but not least these "Freshman Fritters" experienced the first homecoming of their high school lives. This year the freshman placed fourth in class competition. "Even though we were last place in Homecoming we still worked hard and we were proud," said freshman Joel Horton.

Apples of the Pie

W

ith new teachers Cathy Barber, Craig Bates, Stephanie Bolling, Marsha Patterson, and Kim Hammack, this year's faculty and staff were the apples of the pie.

Kevin Raybon took the cake with his award of Teacher of the Year. Raybon's efforts have helped students with math for many years. "He's like a big brother to me. It's one of my favorite classes," said Keondra Gilbert. Many students feel this way. "I know I'll keep on liking him, even after I've graduated," said freshman Jennifer Braxton, "he's so nice to his students!" The staff also had a huge helping of a good year. They worked extra hard, putting in many hours of overtime to help the students do their best. The faculty and staff were vital to the success of MHS this year. Of course, what is the pie without the apples?

Coach Raybon shows his students exactly what they should be working on. He did such a good job this year he was voted teacher of the year.

Girls aren't the only ones who like to have fun. During an assembly, the male teachers take a moment in the lobby for some male camaraderie.

Mr. Carter sets up his ladder for some repair work. As the handyman at MHS, he always had something to do.

Side Dishes

While taking a break between classes, Charlotte Speake, Courtney Brasher, and Lacy Horsley converse about the day. Friends were an important item on this year's menu.

Seniors Brent McChesney and Julie Scarborough spend a little free time outside. These benches were a popular side item on many students' menus.

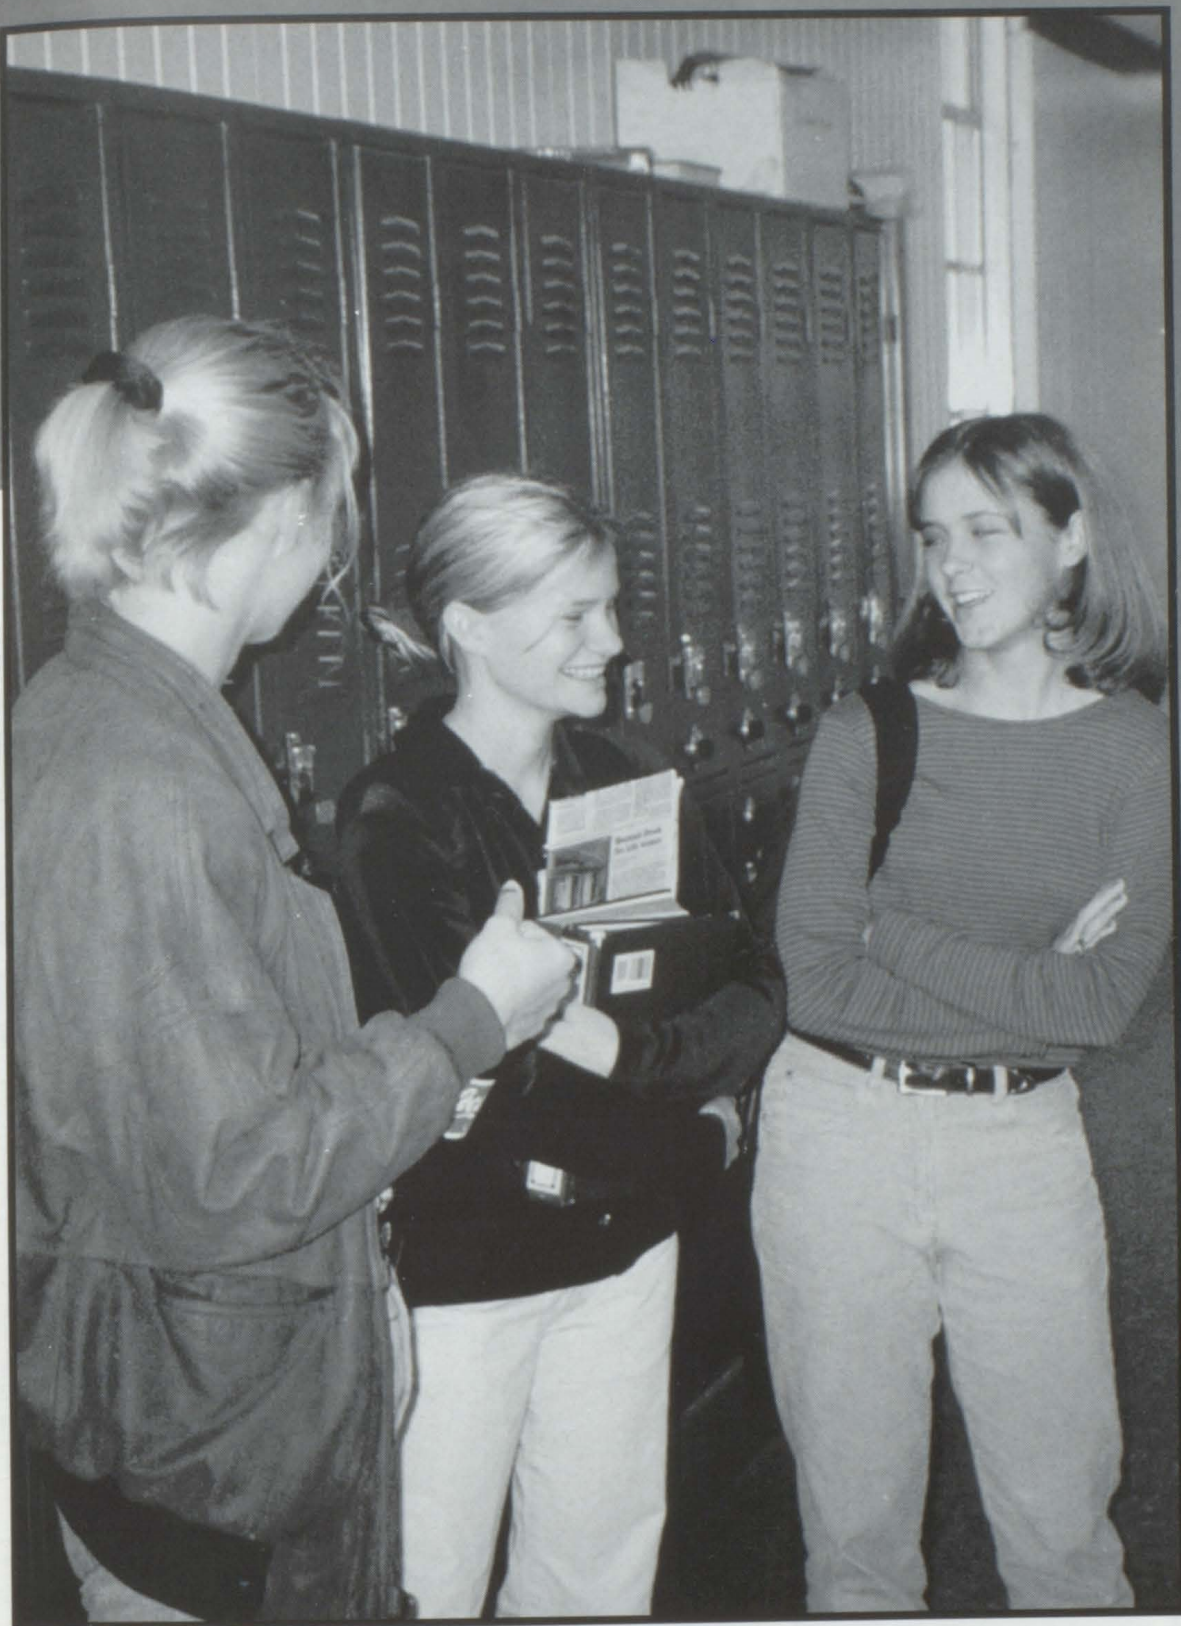

With great concentration, Lacy Horsley and Jane Walker create a banner for their class. Although not required, activities such as Homecoming were a large part of students' lives.

Many students enjoyed a nourishing meal in the MHS lunchroom. This food was what helped keep the student body going.

STUDENT LIFE

Would you like fries with that? Not just food helped create life for the students of MHS. Friends, Homecoming, time spent in the halls, and out of school were just a few minor items on this year's menu. Whether you were a freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior, these were the things that added flavor to the year. Each student chose his or her meal carefully, selecting the side items that tasted best. Homecoming was truly thrilling this year. The classes had more flavor than ever, and the competition was tough! "I thought the year was great! I know the memories will last," said Lee Hutchison.

CREATING

Freshmen Nik Layman and Josh Shoemaker hold up a fellow bulldog while cheering for the team. Thanks to their efforts, the freshmen received a second place win at the pep rally.

What is the recipe for a great Homecoming week? Start with two awesome pep rallies, full of more spirit than ever before. Then, mix in 80's Day, chock full of poofed hair, leg warmers, and high heels. Whip up four grade A walls, and mix in on Tuesday. Add a hilarious Celebrity/Character Day. For flavor, drop in pennies and silver to benefit Student Council. Toss in some orange and blue outfits, as much as you can get. To top it off, create a banner and highly competitive float for each class. Display the results at a huge pep rally full of Bulldog spirit. Your finished recipe is sure to create a stir.

A

STIR

The Senior Wall was a top item on this year's Homecoming menu. Seniors Zac Craig, Julie Scarborough, and Erin Davison marvel over the pictures.

The Pink Ladies show their spirit as they Hand Jive on Celebrity/Character Day. They danced their way into a first place for the senior class.

Jennifer Bowden outlines the junior's plan for a win. Her leadership, with the help of others, made homecoming week possible.

Katie Hall looks pleased as she examines her class's standings. The bulletin board kept everyone updated on the competition during the week.

My Favorite Ingredient:

"Working on the float."

— Josh Shoemaker

"I like the way the class really bonds to work on the projects."

— Margaret Daum

"The Halftime show...it's different every year."

— Chip Jones

"The dress up days, because you get to see people make fools of themselves!"

— Adam Harper

"Cheering at the pep rally."

— Yterina Tollbert

Topping

Home-coming week was exciting, with tons of activity happening around the school.

During the week there was fun dress up days, penny counts, wall and float competition. To top off the week we threw in the homecoming game on Friday, October 3, against Chelsea. Putting the icing on the cake, Tiffany Chappell was crowned homecoming queen during pre-game. The game was a great success with lead out at 8:00 p.m. Homecoming court was full of the best in each class. The court included two attendants from each class, freshmen attendants Amber Gul, Crystal Adams, sophomore attendants Andrea Ward, Tomika Lilly, junior attendants Amanda Wyatt, and Andrea Lilly. Three fine ladies were the senior attendants, one of which would be crowned homecoming queen. They were Erin Davison, Loren McAnally, and Tiffany Chappell.

Tiffany quotes "I enjoyed being Homecoming queen. It was a great experience that I will remember for a long time.

I felt just like Cinderella!
Thanks
M.H.S., for a great year."

After three years, three very fine ladies make a final appearance on the Homecoming field. Here, Queen Tiffany Chappell is flanked by court members Erin Davison and Loren Leigh McAnally.

The excitement abounds as the previous queen, Chavone Spruel crowns her successor Tiffany Chappell. That was one night Tiffany is sure not to forget.

Dressing up. Looking nice. Going out. Holding each other close. All part of the events in the exciting night of the homecoming dance.

Spread
those smiles
around!

The majorettes strike a pose while flashing their brightest smiles. They always entertained the crowd with their performances.

Amber Wade and Amie Langham show their professional career smiles. College Day brought a smile to the faces of many juniors and seniors.

Marie Sullivan throws back her head with a smile of delight while Matt Walker takes a more subtle approach to his joy. Homecoming was enjoyed by all this year.

Montevallo is proud to present one of the best specials of the year: smiles. They truly are more than a mouthful; these will brighten your day and lighten your heart. Some were always flashing their pearly whites, like the majorettes and the cheerleaders, while others, like the football team and the basketball team, saved theirs only for special occasions. Seeing a friend, getting a good grade back on a test, making a shot, beating your rivals, all these are reasons to smile. Mr. George Theodore is one who was often seen smiling at students, but what really makes him beam? "Seeing a lot of Montevallo High School students make the A honor roll makes me smile," says this lover of learning. Remember, a smile can make the difference between a good and a bad day, so use them often, because they really are more than a mouthful.

Summer on the side

Summer is a time to relax and have a little fun. For some students though, summer is more of a time to work hard and earn extra money to put them ahead. No matter which way summer is spent, it is a side order that you cannot live without.

Vacations took students to a variety of places. Mrs. Chappell took a group of students to England and Scotland for ten days where they experienced a great difference in the lifestyle. Some students simply enjoyed a week at the beach or the mountains. Many students found their summer spent working. Some found a summer job. Band students and cheerleaders spent some of their summer at camp preparing for the upcoming year. No matter how the summer was spent, it was spent well. Summer is simply a side order that you must have, and for seniors it was the last real summer they would experience.

Mr. Bates works hard to keep the band in line. The group practiced hard throughout the summer.

Loren Leigh McAnally is joined by a group of children at church camp. Many students spent their summer at different camps.

What was the most exciting thing you did during the summer?

A Taste of Bulldog Cuisine

W

Whether you brought your own lunch, or bought some of the lunchroom's delicious cuisine, eating was a vital part of each day. Many chose to snack from the machine, or just to bring their own goodies. Follow the diagram to see what kind of bulldog cuisine you enjoy!

Knick-Knack, Paddy-Whack, Bring Your Food From Home

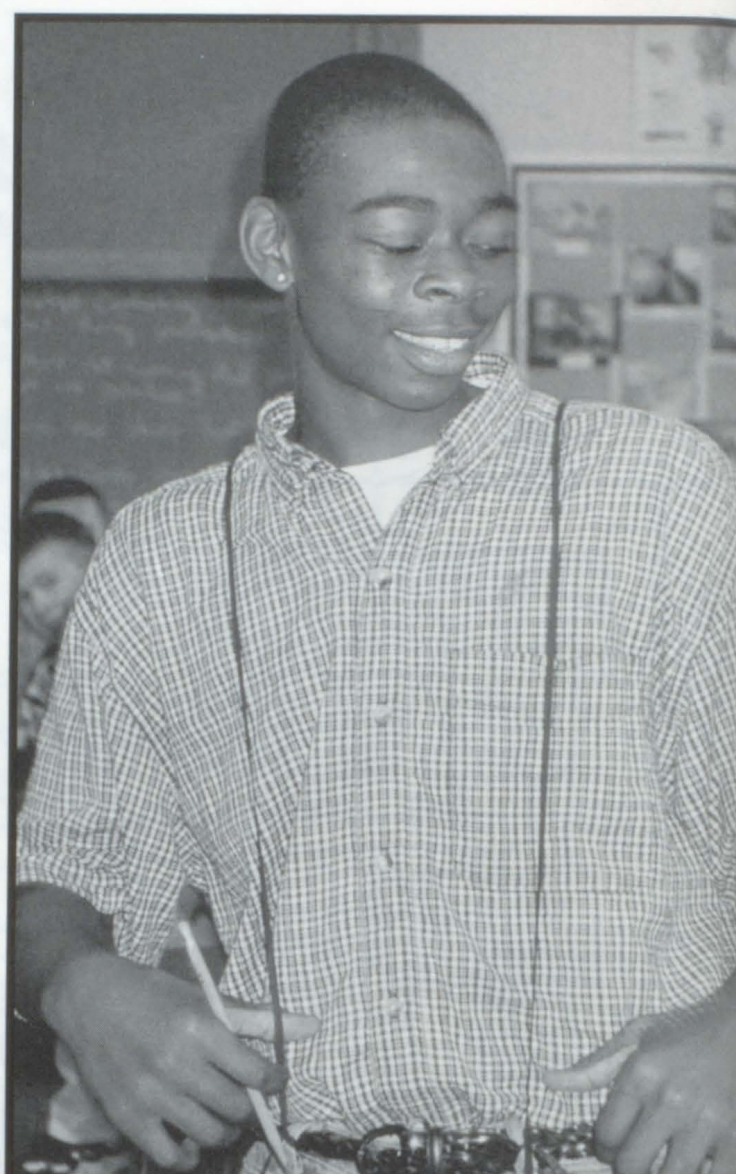

You'll eat, but not food from school! Food from home is your staple, but you may try a bite from the machine now and then. After all, a dog can't live on bones alone.

Chow-Hound

When it comes to food, you don't discriminate. The Bulldog Café serves your favorites all the time! When it comes to meals, you really chow down!

Everyone contributes their own unique style to Montevallo High. Jesus Juarez and Christy Moore stare at the camera, Michael Wynn and Katie Hall sport trendy shirts, Jason Carlee and Georgia Nicholson wear their own bottoms, and Connie Stobert and Chris Puckett show off their shoes.

Mary Beth Rodgers reads while wearing a Montevallo Bulldog pullover. These proved to be very trendy as all types of people decided to wear them this year.

Ariel Goins sports a new trend thought up by the coaching staff. This look was a lesson to boys to keep their pants at the appropriate level.

Trend

As you walked throughout the halls of Montevallo High school, many different styles were spotted. Whether dressed to the nines, or dressed to be comfortable, everyone made a statement. Trendy students this year wore brand names such as Tommy Hilfiger, Nautica, Calvin Klein, and Timberland. On the other hand, some students were not so concerned with superficial things like clothes. Senior Mary Beth Rodgers said, "When I was a freshmen, I was concerned with looking fashionable. Yet, now that I am a senior, I dress mainly for comfort." All different personalities were expressed through clothing, and the students at Montevallo definitely took pride in their individuality.

Many students asked themselves What Would Jesus Do? this year. These bracelets that FCA sponsored were definitely a new trend.

Mary Beth Rodgers, Lori Lyle, and Margaret Daum stick out their Calvin Klein bottoms. Many students considered Calvin Klein a must in their wardrobe for 1997-98.

Jennifer Bowden proves that anything goes at school. The military type clothing was seen everywhere from school to fashion magazines.

MHS cheerleaders Courtney Brasher, Emily Nathews, Kelly Damon, and Lacey Peeples have to ride on the fire truck to pep the Bulldogs up during the annual Homecoming Parade. The cheerleaders are busy cheerleading year-round for football and basketball.

S P O R T S

Athletics at Montevallo High School are like a Five Star Restaurant. We pride ourselves in our excellence. Succeeding is common, but still exciting. To the volleyball team, it was a spectacular year. Under the direction of Coach Parente, they were the area champions. Football advanced farther in the state playoffs than students and coaches could remember. They were defeated in the second round. Seniors LaNisha Cartwell, Ray Marshall, and Shontua Ray all signed athletic scholarships with the University of Alabama. Spring sports such as baseball, softball, tennis, and track were successful in their seasons as well. The varsity boys basketball team was young but strong.

Mixin' Up Sports

At Montevallo High School, there are many different types of sports that a student can join, but it takes a lot of hard work and after school practices. Most of the athletes do work hard and stand out from the crowd. Montevallo has many excellent athletes who go on to pursue their dreams of playing in college. Montevallo High School also has a superior coaching staff. All of the coaches work hard to get their team to be number one. This year all the hard work paid off with excellent seasons. The coaches not only taught the athletes how to play the game, but also the mental aspects of success. The players worked hard and were very successful.

"There ain't no stoppin'" Kyle Henderson. Kyle was successful in the lay-up he attempted.

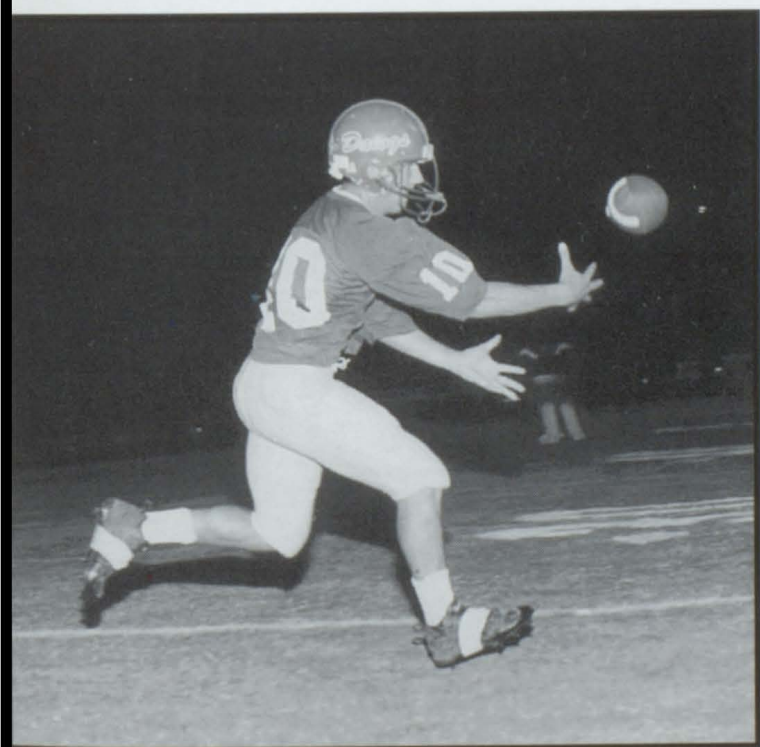

Although Erin Houser is being blocked by the Pelham girls, she jumps to make a lay-up. She scored two more points for her team.

Corey Salter waits for his partner to throw the ball. While trying out for the baseball team Corey played his hardest to ensure his place on the team.

The Varsity football team waits for the right moment to spring into action and defeat the opposing team. Each player worked his hardest to ensure a winning season.

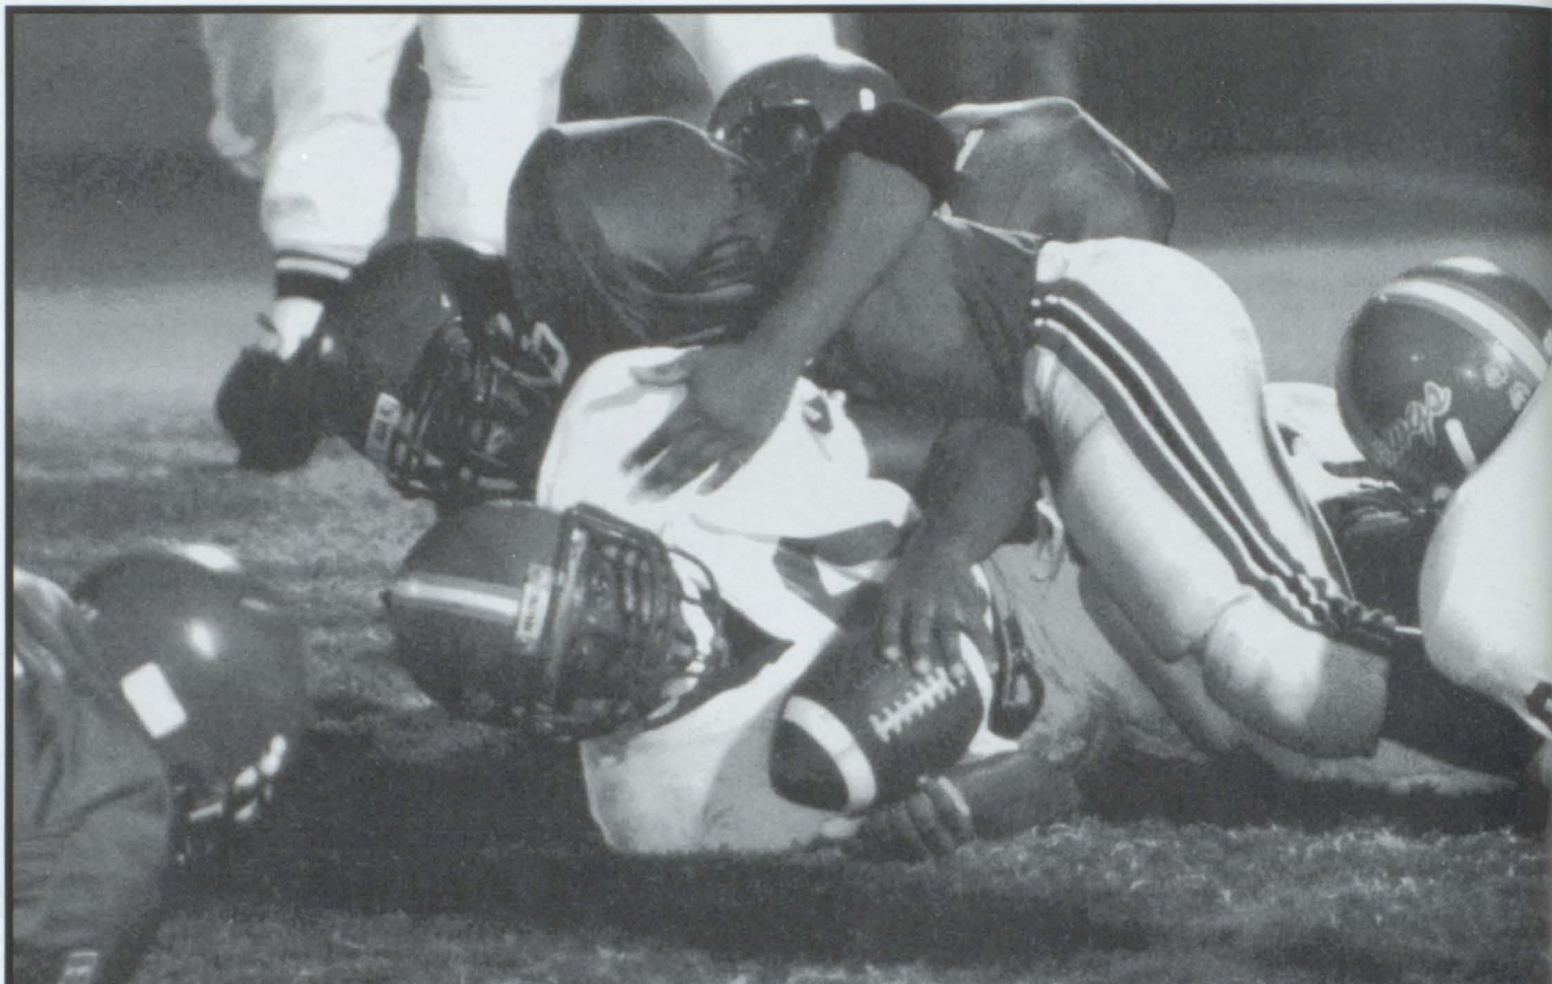

Thad Walker warms up to help defeat the opposing team. He helped the team many times to receive the score they deserved.

Dana Bice is getting ready to throw the ball to first base. She did a great job trying out for softball.

A Reason to Stir

Montevallo's star running back Shontua Ray lunges through the John Carroll's secondary. Shontua rushed for 243 yards on 28 carries for an average of 8.6 yards a carry.

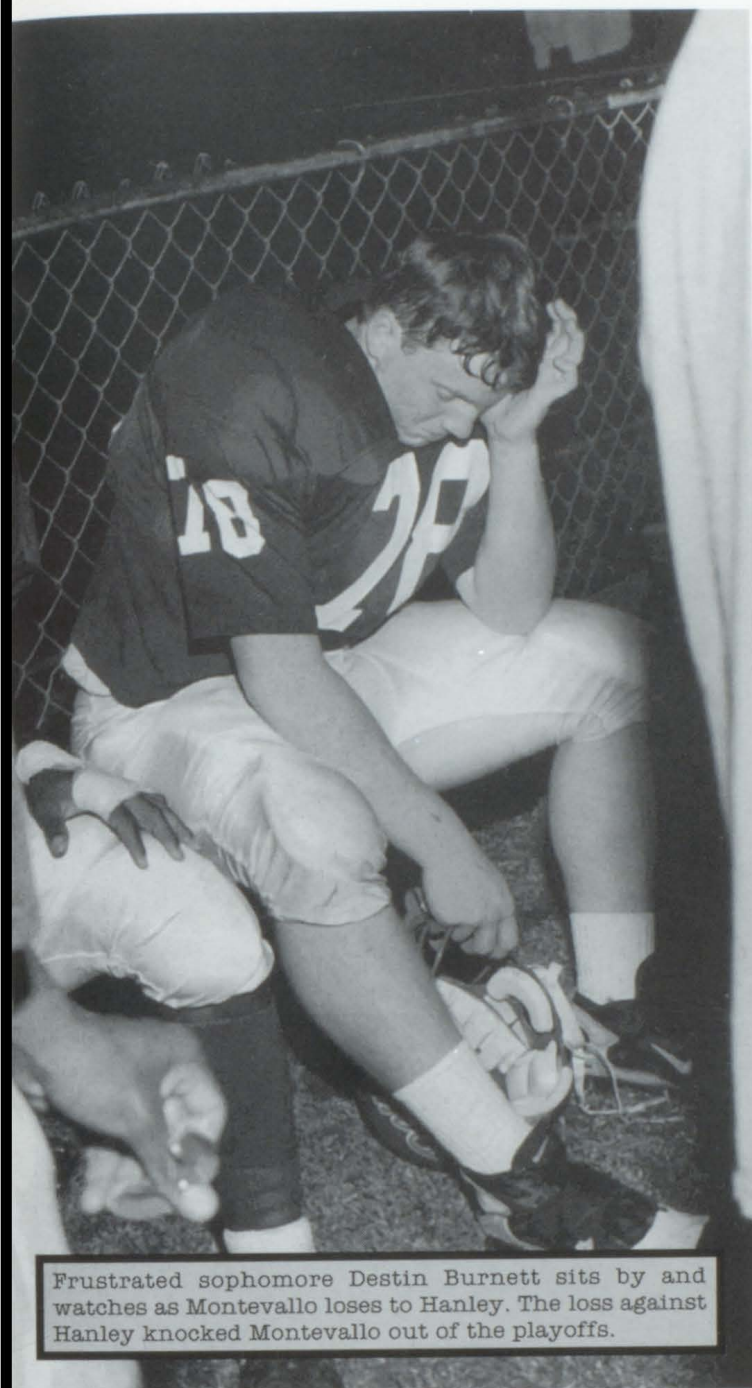

Montevallo leaves the field after a great first half against Chelsea. The Bulldogs went on to win the game.

Senior Brad Bamberg drops back to throw against Chelsea's defense. Brad was an asset to the success of the team.

Frustrated sophomore Destin Burnett sits by and watches as Montevallo loses to Hanley. The loss against Hanley knocked Montevallo out of the playoffs.

The Montevallo Varsity Football team gave all the students and Alumni a reason to stir. The Dawgs started the season 3-0, all three were very decisive victories, with a season opener of a 60-20 win against Calera followed by a 59-0 win against West Blocton. Montevallo experienced a victory against Dallas County 31-13, although it was not a blowout, helped keep their adrenaline going. Despite their strong start, Montevallo fell short against Thompson with a 27-35 loss at Thompson. Montevallo staggered through the next 3 games with a 1-2 record. Montevallo pulled out of this slump by winning the next two games with only twenty points scored against them. Despite this strong rally, they lost to Sumter County in the second round of the playoffs. Montevallo finished the season with a record of 7-4. We wish our best to the graduating seniors.

JV Delight

The JV football team went three and four this year with a tough season. These boys fought hard for the wins they made. Their biggest win over John Carroll was made by much practice and good coaching by Coach Johnye Horton. This year was a hard year for the coach because it was his first losing season in a while. Most of the boys were new and just starting. All of these boys were excited and ready to go for the upcoming season. With good sportsmanship, the team strived for a winning season. As long as everybody worked together and tried their best the team was happy. With Jamaah Holmes (#2) as quarterback, he assisted the team with good runs during the season. Along with good catches from Josh Stone (#20), and good defending from Emmitt Chappell (#30) the season was a excellent learning experience. "Everyone did their best. I only asked them to play their best, and that's what I got. I was very happy with their performance, both on and off the field," said Johnye Horton.

A JV receiver prepares to catch the ball thrown by the quarterback. The quarterback often made excellent throws to be caught by superior receivers.

The Dawgs push through the line for 10 yards. They kept going with tremendous effort until the game was through and won.

The team sets up defensively against John Carroll. The team was prepared for the opponent they faced.

The team looks to the quarterback to listen for the next play. The quarterback had a lot of responsibility in informing the team of the next play.

Serving The Best

Stephanie Edwards prepares to set the ball as Ambria Houser gets ready to bump it to Erin Houser so she can spike it. Although the team often had confusing plays, they always seemed to be successful.

Ambria Houser prepares to send the ball back over the net. Ambria was an asset to the success of the team.

Coach Parente gives the team a encouraging talk while having a time out against the Thompson Warriors. When Coach Parente talked the team listened.

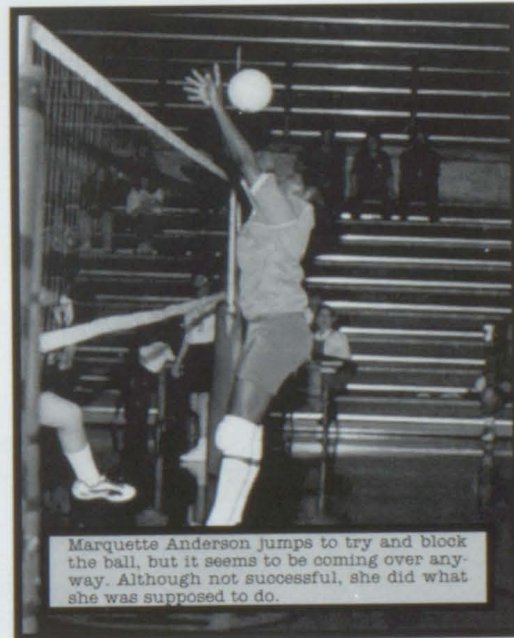

Sherry Bice serves her tremendous serve to the opponent. The great serve gives the Lady Bulldogs a point ahead in the game.

Through all of the long and hard practices this summer the ladies played a good season. Coach Parente led the team for the second year. With his new drills and the ones already played by the girls, they advanced on to the County tournament at Jemison High School. The team played with good sportsmanship and team determination which caused the Lady Bulldogs to be named Champions of the Tournament. Back for another round this year are seniors: Sherry Bice, Marquette Anderson, and Stephanie Edwards, juniors: Mary Laurel Blake, April Dailey, and Erin Houser. Newcomers were seniors Qiana Rutledge and Ambria Houser, and freshman Dana Bice, Samantha Edwards, Savoyia McNeil, and Regina Bright. The season ended with fourteen wins!

Marquette Anderson jumps to try and block the ball, but it seems to be coming over anyway. Although not successful, she did what she was supposed to do.

Hot To Go

This year's Varsity Cheerleaders really served up a hot dish of spirit mixed with a lot of fun. Under the leadership of Captain Erin Davison and Co-Captain Emily Nathews this year's squad strove to excellence. While attending the Universal Cheerleading Association Camp this summer, the squad brought home many awards. The squad won numerous superior ribbons and an award for most improved squad. Emily Nathews also won the camp's jump off competition. When asked what her favorite part of cheering was, Senior Erin Davison said, "Cheering is a good way to meet new people and I just enjoy doing it. When I graduate I am going to really miss it."

Spicing It Up

Adding spices to the menu, the Junior Varsity cheerleaders pepped up the fans. They cheered the Junior Varsity football players on to victory. Ms. Raynett Turner sponsored the Junior Varsity cheerleaders. All of the Junior Varsity cheerleaders were a new addition to the menu. It was each member's first year to cheer. They worked extra hard and did their best this year. They received excellent and superior ribbons at Universal Cheerleading Association camp held at the University of Montevallo. They worked hard throughout the year and had a blast while gaining spirit for the Montevallo Bulldogs. Sophomore Amber Lackey quotes "I enjoyed being head Junior Varsity cheerleader this year. It was a new, fun, and hard working experience. Go Bulldogs!"

Erica Cain cheers her with all her might. She did a good job at the 1997 Homecoming pep rally.

Dunkin' Balls

Coach Pierson strikes a pose after his 200th win this year. Coach Pierson said, "I'm tired, but proud of my accomplishments."

BASKETBALL

Gary Reed takes a breather as he passes the ball to one of his teammates contemplating his next move. He wonders how to make a move to receive the ball back to avoid his opponent's rush and body.

Renaldo Sumerlin scores two points for the Bulldogs. He was an asset to the team this year.

Leonard Fulgham and Keaton Santa Cruz look to the crowd after a stressful, but successful game. The Bulldogs were supported by the fans.

This year has been a wonderful experience for all the players involved. They have proved that they are able to weather any situation that has faced them. With stellar performances for the juniors and sophomores, Coach Pierson has a lot to look back upon this year and be proud of. With wonderful leadership from Juniors Leonard Fulgham and Travis Smith, the team has shown their Bulldog pride and spirit. After all the hard work this year, the Dawgs should work miracles next year.

Hot Hoops

The Lady Bulldogs cruise down another lane of basketball season. They started an unimaginable season. The first game for the ladies was on November 20, 1997 against Ramsey. They won their first victory against Ramsey High School, which started their winning season. December 19-22 a Christmas Tournament at Jemison High School was hosted. The Bulldogs beat Selma, Childersburg, and Chilton. The Lady Dogs won the Tournament. During Christmas break the girls attended the Gulf Coast Classic in Foley. On December 26-27, they played Pine and Foley, but lost. They knew they couldn't win every game. The Shelby County Championship was held on January 26-31 at the Pelham Complex. Their first game was Tuesday night against Shelby County and they won, but when playing Briarwood on Friday night they lost. The team then attended Bay Minette to play in the tournament at Faulkner State University, because they won their area games. LaNisha Cartwell(#45) signed with the University of Alabama.

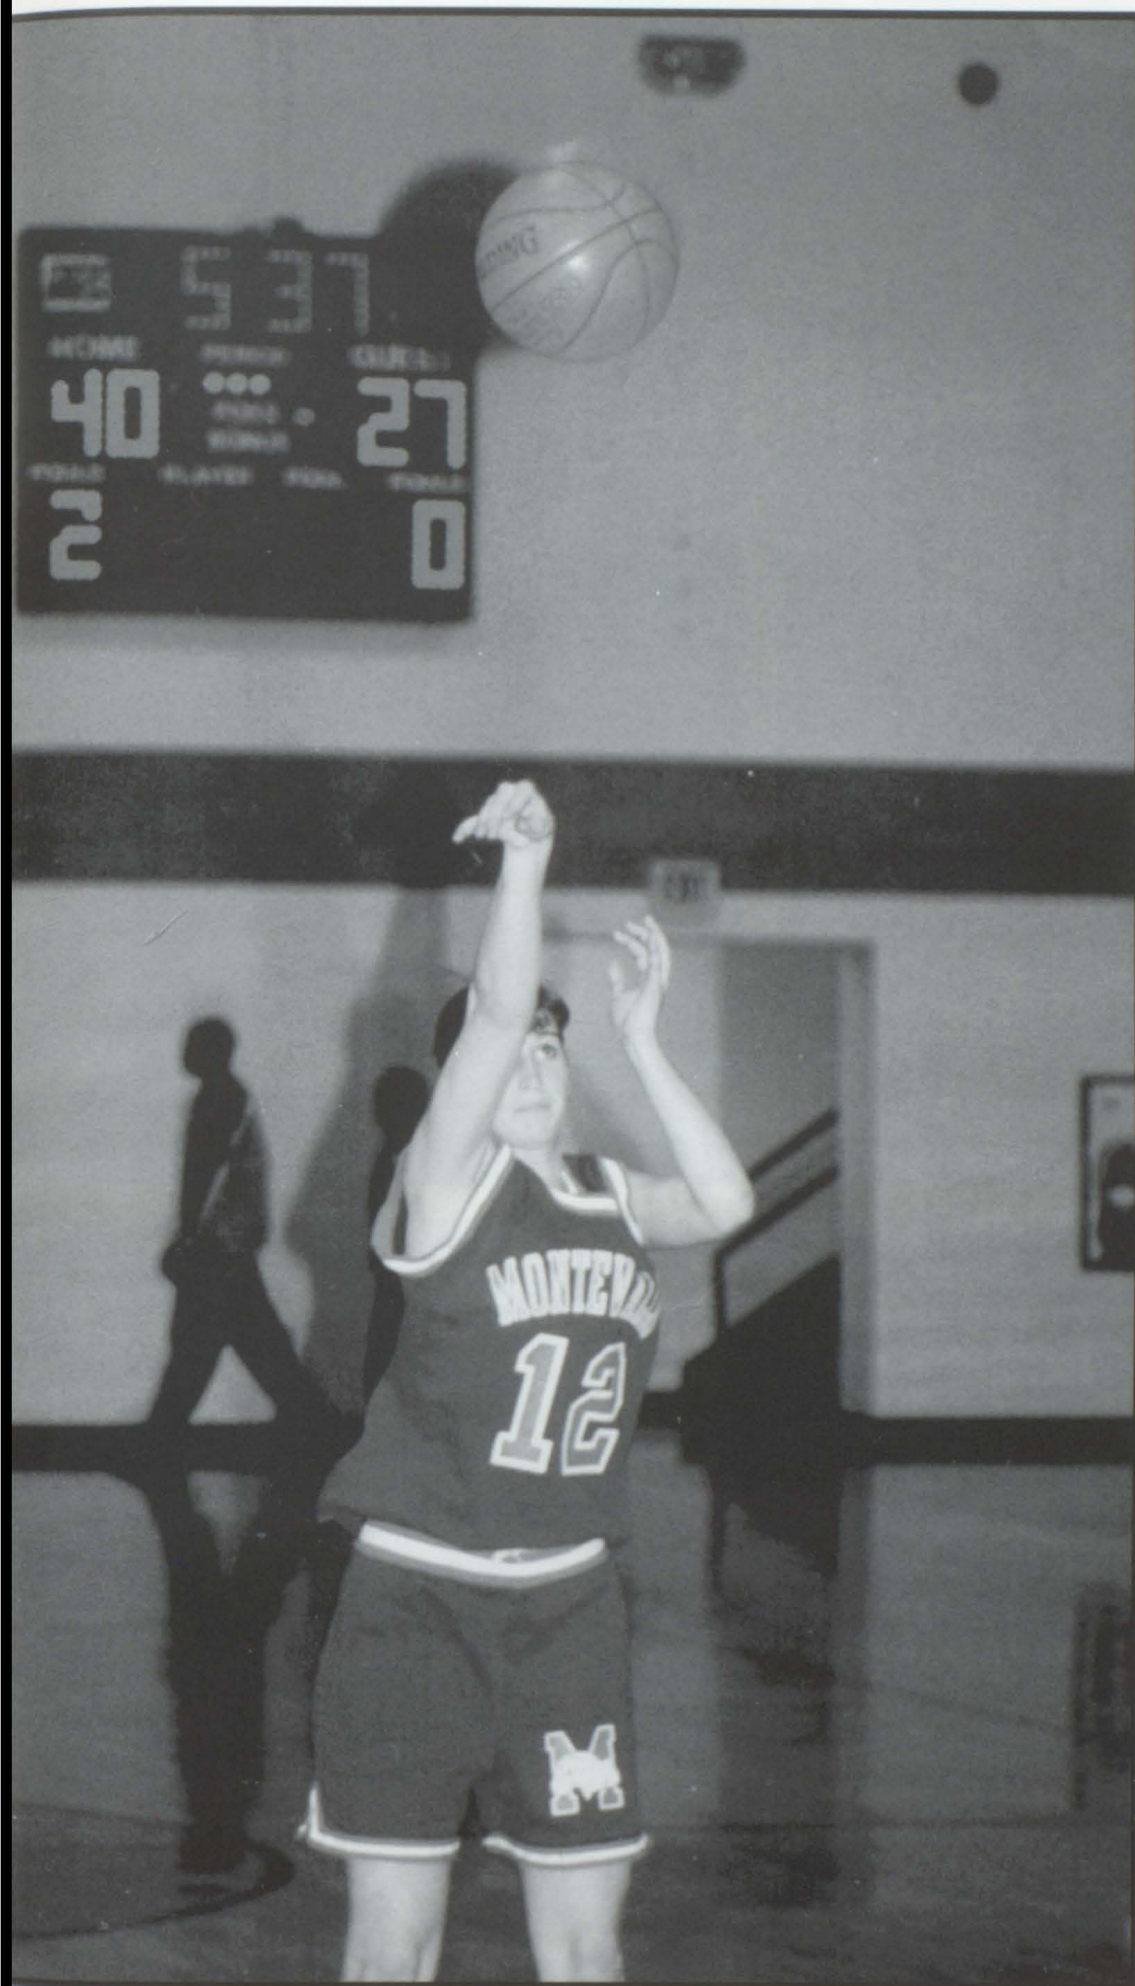

Tomika Lilly, Taminika Spruel, April Chappell, Leann Lamb, Kristin Williams, Marquette Anderson, LaNisha Cartwell, Monique Jones, Erin Houser, Tyeshia Prentice, Tiffany Goldsmith, LaTonya Cottingham, Katie Hall

LaNisha Cartwell seems extremely happy to be signing with Alabama as her choice of colleges. Joining in her excitement is her mother(sitting beside her), and her friends and family.

Kristin Williams attempts a free throw and follows through. This was Kristin's first year to play for Montevallo.

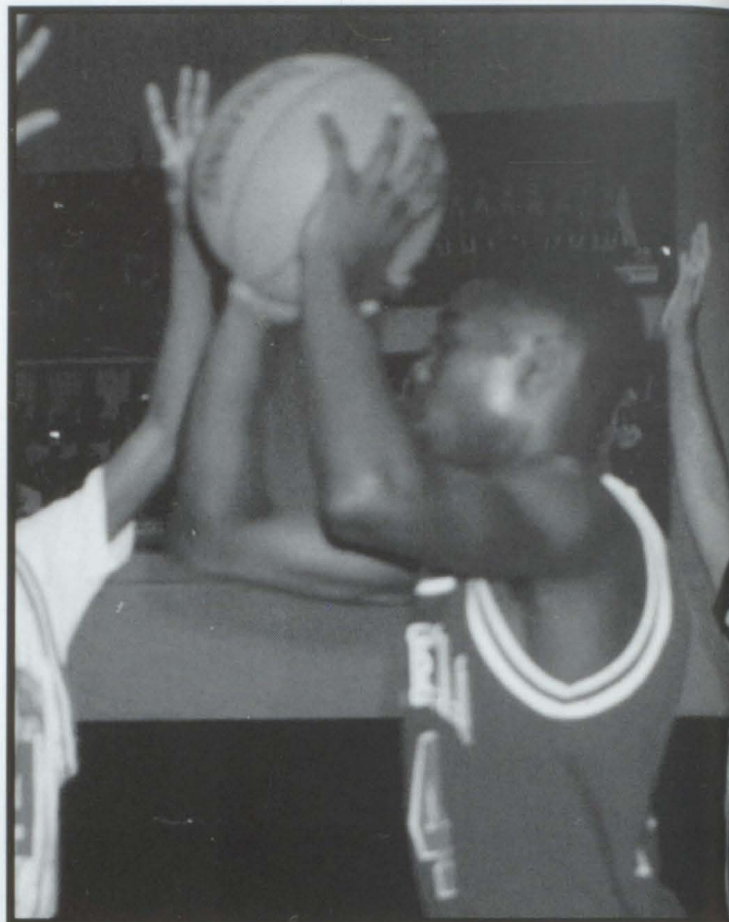

April Chappell attempts a two pointer. April scored many points to lead the team to success.

Jumping Beans

Under the leadership of Coach Kevin Raybon the JV basketball team had a slow beginning, but in the end they pulled things together to have a 10-9 record. At the Shelby County Tournament they got first runner up after they fell short to the Thompson Warriors by one point. "Our coach led us all the way, but we did not pull together as a team until the end and by then it was too late," said Sophomore Jarvis Davis. Although the team had a rough beginning, they still had fun playing and ended their season determined to strive for excellence for the years to come. Despite a coaching change during the summer, the boys pulled through for a excellent finish.

Ariel Goins prepares to pass the ball to a waiting team mate at the Montevallo-Thompson game. This was the same game that named them the runner-up in the Shelby County Tournament.

Billy Bradshaw fights off two defending Jemison Panther players. This was Billy's first year to play JV basketball for Montevallo High School.

Sophomore Demetrice Sanders shoots a free throw at the Jemison-Montevallo game to score the fifty-eighth point for the bulldogs. The Bulldogs went on to win this game.

The Little Chefs

This year the little chefs have done their best. The team was made up of freshmen and eighth graders. The team was coached by the Elementry School P.E. teacher and assistant coach to the softball team, Ms. Jett. Although they might not seem important, they are going to be the next Varsity team. They played their hardest and the efforts paid off. The boys did very well also. They were coached by Coach Averhart. The boys were led on the court by freshmen Jamaah Holmes and Jonathan Rutledge. The boys and girls worked hard this year and are ready for the years to come.

GOLF

Well - Done

With a look of determination, Loren Leigh McAnally prepares for a smooth backhand. Her skills did not come easily; they took years of practice to develop.

Brent McChesney drives to the next hole while checking out the green. His golf skills were carefully perfected through many hours of practice.

Number one doubles partners Lauren Ryerson and Loren McAnally take a moment from their busy game schedule to pose. It took many hours year round to prepare for this single season well done.

The 1998 tennis and golf teams proved to everyone that they liked their games well done. These teams were different from all others, but definitely not in determination. Unlike other sports, when one of these athletes was injured, it was either stay in the game or forfeit. With no other players able to substitute, as in baseball, football, or basketball, these players had to toughen up and take the punishment. Also, these players had to depend on their own ability, not on other teammates. With no one else helping out, if something went wrong, they had to take control. Even though they had no referees, these players played with good sportsmanship and great ability. The golf team and tennis team should be commended on a season well done.

Recipe for Winners

Connie Stobert prepares for practice. The team practiced every school day to prepare for the season.

Kiera Rutledge puts all her strength behind her swing. Kiera played her hardest throughout try-outs.

The girl's softball team practiced hard to have a winning season. With practice starting in the cold and rainy days of February, the team was well prepared for the opponents they would play. The girls practiced every school day for hours. A tremendous amount of running, hitting, and catching prepared the team. The group was not only physically ready for the challenges they faced, but Coach Parente and Assistant Coach Jett made sure the team was also mentally prepared. With the leadership from previous players the underclassmen found the sport to be both competitive and fun. The girls' spirits were always held high with cheers. With a lot of practice, superior coaches, and good sportsmanship a recipe of winners was created.

Coach Parente discusses the plan for the upcoming game. The team learned a variety of plays through mental practice.

Katie Hall puts all her power behind each throw. Katie was an excellent defensive player.

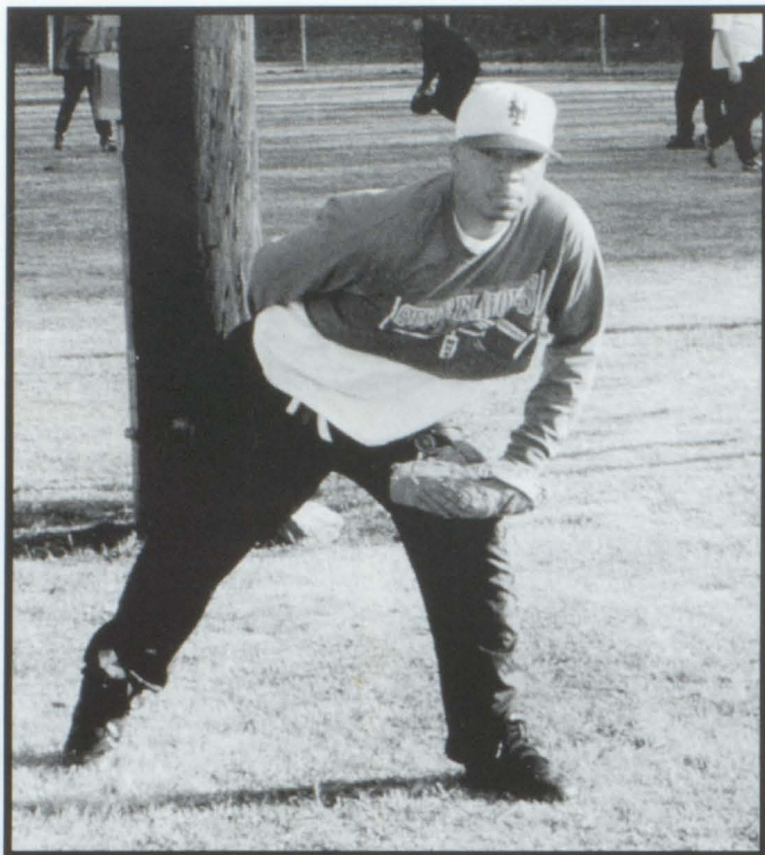

Coach Jett prepares to release the ball into the pitching machine. The pitching machine helped to prepare the team for the speeding pitches of the opposing team.

Dana Bice stretches before practice. The coaches made sure the team was physically prepared for the season.

Corey Salter gets ready to throw a fast ball. After being on the team before, Corey was used to these drills.

Robert Hope straps on his catching equipment. Having this protection greatly reduced the risk of the catcher getting hurt.

With extreme force, Brad Bamburg hurls a practice pitch. These practices gave Brad the experience to perform well during the regular season.

Don't forget the batter

The baseball team finished off their season with a bang this year. The Bulldogs were led by Coach Raybon and Coach Goggins. Seniors leading the Bulldogs were Keith Johnson, Shontua Ray, Corey Salter, and Brad Bamberg. The baseball team competed in approximately twenty games, and practice lasted from three thirty to sundown everyday at Orr park. They practiced drills that concentrated on pitching, throwing, catching, and base running. McShan Walker said, "We knew it was going to be a rough year after losing nine seniors. Yet, we worked hard and played as a team, and ended up having a lot of fun."

Stretching is part of a daily routine to loosen up the player's muscles. The players were used to all kinds of stretching and warm-up drills to get practice started.

With a look of determination, Willie McNeal prepares for the next pitch. Catchers had to pay attention to the game in case of a ball coming.

Exhausted after giving blood to the American Red Cross, Lori Lyle and Connie Stobert take a short nap. This event was sponsored by Student Council and they did a job well done.

The desserts have been added. The organizations at Montevallo High School kept it going and finished it off. These desserts added entertainment, helping hands, and learning new things, to the menu. Student Council sponsored two blood drives, Spanish Club read to younger kids, and other organizations helped the menu be even better. Other groups, like Band, Math Team, and Scholar's Bowl, competed against other groups like themselves. This added the competition to the menu. All aspects to keep the Bulldog Cafe running have been added and with this addition the menu has been completed.

On February 6, 1998, the spice girls spiced up the year. The annual Evening of Pageants was held with great success. This event was held in the auditorium and Janice Rogers was Mistress of Ceremony. Mr. Larry Haynes and other members of Mass Communication helped organize the smashing success of the Evening of Pageants. Special entertainment included four sophomores in the band Green Lizards, and 1997 Miss M.H.S. Lindsey Cardone dancing to the song "The Witness". "I enjoyed the pageant. It was a great experience and a lot of fun," quotes Jennifer Bowden. The Evening of Pageants included the Little Miss, Junior

Bugles On the Go

Marching Band has amazed Montevallo High School this year with their great performances. During half-time at the football games their usual act got better and better. The majorettes with their dazzling smiles and the color guards with their many colors brought more spirit to the great sounds of the band. This year the band went to competition and performed to the best of their ability. Band members also had many long practices during the summer to reach the goal of becoming an even better band than they already were. When you think of Montevallo Troubadours you'll know the true meaning of music.

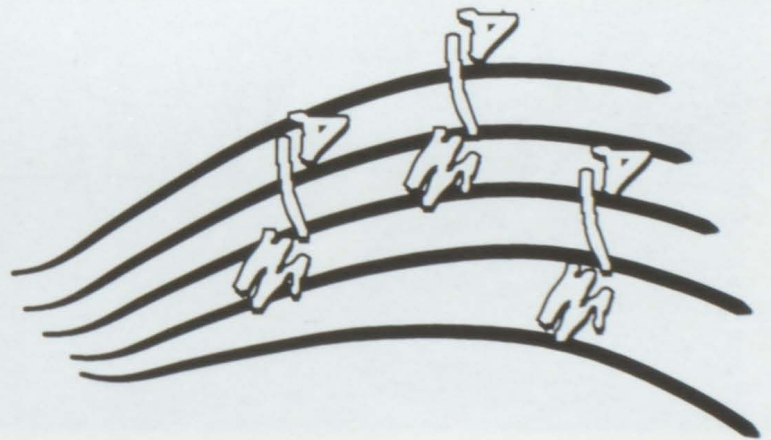

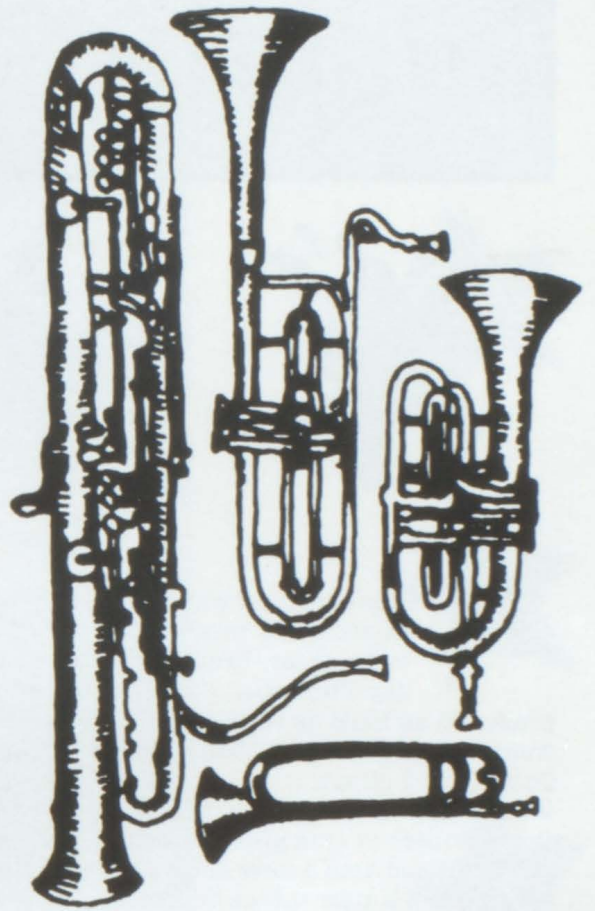

The Montevallo Troubadours start their march with a tremendous banner. Band mom and Ruth Miller lead their Troubadours to the field in style.

Ray Garza plays the trombone with determination during half-time with his eyes closed. He is poised with his hat tilted.

P.J. Adams smiles as he contemplates his performance during half-time. The show took many hours of practice to complete.

Andria's eyes say "I'm ready to get started" as she wears her special made band suit. She stands as still as possible elbows out and head up proud of her skill.

Trying A New Recipe

Although this was the first year for the Color Guard, they proved that they had what it took to be great. From 3:15 P.M. to 5:00 P.M., Monday-Thursday, during the football season, they practiced as hard as they could. During the summer they went to several days of band camp and also went through Color Guard clinic.

With the help of Melanie Ray directing the Color Guard, the members of this group, learned a lot and had fun, too. "Color Guard was a new and fun experience for me, and I got to learn a new talent and meet new friends as well," said sophomore Marie Sullivan. Even though it was the rookie year for the entire squad, they all proved they could try a new recipe and succeed.

Emily Kemp and April Marshall warm up before they go on to the field. Their performance on the field was superior.

Drum Major Lora Brand salutes the crowd. Her patience with the new members of the band helped to make them feel welcome.

Before the game the Color Guard waits for the band to take their seats so they can sit down. Without the Color Guard the half-time shows would have been colorless.

Marie Sullivan concentrates hard on the next move. She was performing in front of the school for a pep rally and she did great.

Waiting for her turn in the drill, Reshun Jones is poised and ready as her teammates move into action. These practices were vital in their outstanding performance this season.

As they walk down the street at the Homecoming Parade, the color Guard swing their flags high into the air. They made the parade nice and colorful.

Shaken' not stirred

Twirling at Montevallo High School was an honor in 1997. The majorettes were well known in the community. They started their season the week after try-outs with a clinic for girls in the elementary and middle schools. They taught basics, routines, and got to know future majorettes. For a fundraiser, there was a drawing for ten Beanie Babies. This was a popular event for the town's May Day Celebration. In June, the majorettes traveled to Huntsville for their annual camp. There, they learned their popular pep rally routine and field routines for the year. With the help of their sponser Montevallo Middle School teacher, Vicky Webb, they recieved a superior rating in competetion at Pell City. They participated in several parades, including the Trade Day Parade, and a parade at Epcot Center during the band trip to Orlando, Florida. Only losing two seniors, Head Loren Leigh McAnally and Co-Head Lori Lyle, the squad will still be strong next year.

MHS Majorettes are ecstatic after a great performance. This year's squad includes: Ashley White, Lacy Horsley, Loren Leigh McAnally, Lori Lyle, Lauren Hendon, Jane Walker, and Katie McMinn Twirling is a scream! Seniors Lori Lyle and Loren Leigh McAnally enjoyed twirling their senior year.

Jane Walker wants her appearance to be perfect for her first competition. The majorettes received a superior score at Pell City.

A Fruity Melody

As the new year began, there was an eerie feeling all around the band room. Everything felt different, yet sort of new. There was a new director and a lot of skeptical students. Not only were there all these new things but also a new style. Tradition was thought of as lost (but just because things are new, it doesn't mean that they are wrong) but it was only hiding behind everyone in the band, due to fear. As the year progressed these new things started becoming older and tradition began to peak out from behind.

Some of the new things around the band room included additional section rehearsals, music, and style. These were some of Mr. Bates's, the new band director, ideas to help out the band. The new music played for district competition included "Timberline March", "West Highlands Sojourn", and "Declaration Overture". Despite all the bumps along the way, the band members not only pulled through, they are still working and improving for next year.

The flutes practice their part to better the band. Working together was the only way the band could be successful.

Mr. Bates directs "Winter Wonderland" during the Christmas concert. The concert went well and they performed to their best ability.

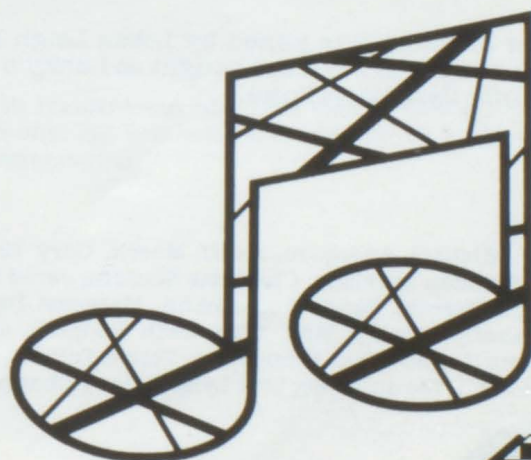

Mr. Bates raises his baton to the band as he gets ready to perform his first concert as the Montevallo High School band director. The band did well at the Christmas concert.

Perry Lawley plays his heart out at the Christmas Concert. Perry is a decorated first chair trumpet player.

The clarinets, led by first chair Lora Brand, put on a sensational performance at the Christmas Concert. This was Lora's finally year in symphonic band.

Unique Flavor

The Student Council plays a major role in our school system. They sponsor certain activities that helps school environment, and outside school activities. Student Council is made up of various grade participants who dedicate themselves to being worthy of their duties. Activities sponsored are: Homecoming, Blood-drive, Can Food Drive, and the White Carnation Fund. Homecoming week was a success thanks to the council for helping plan this fun filled week. The Blood Drive brought in 65 pints of blood, but without the student body participating this could not have been possible. Can food drives are good, because it sponsors at least five to six families during Christmas and Thanksgiving. The White Carnation Fund provides turkeys for needy families during their time of need. Adding the Unique Flavors of the Student Council sets the school year off in spirit.

Chandler Russ looks up unsure of giving blood. Because of those like Chandler the blood drive was a great success.

Mary Beth Rodgers and Lori Lyle search through name tags for the right one. Big Brother/Big Sister was an event organized by the student council.

Second Helpings

What is a peer helper? The ways to describe one are endless. It can be a girl, a boy, a freshman, sophomore, junior, or a senior. They lend a hand to the community and to their school. They uphold an image of friendliness and responsibility. They always lend an ear and assist when needed. Among the activities they performed were Red Ribbon Week, College Day, Prom Promise, and the new student breakfast.

A select few of the peer helpers went to camp Winnataska this year. During camp they learn how to communicate better and develop leadership skills. When they returned, they taught some of the lessons to the rest of the peer helpers.

Mrs. Chappell instructs the peer helpers on how to be good listeners during a meeting. She sponsored the peer helpers this year, and provided many new activities for them to perform.

While attending camp Winnataska, everyone pulls together to lift Holly Dickson over the wall. This was one of many obstacles that helped improve their cooperative skills.

Kevin Conwell, Antonio DuBose, Henry Silas, and Jimmy Jones discuss options in the military. College day was just another informative event the peer helpers sponsored.

Amy Stone secures her harness for the ropes course. Camp focused on such events that built confidence and trust.

Hillary Franklin is not afraid to admit that drug free is the way to be. Red Ribbon week was a success thanks to cooperative students.

Dinner and a Movie

The 1997-1998 school year was a year for the Theater Art students. The students performed their Winter production, "Look Who's Laughing" in December. Before this play they performed a delightful and hilarious show called "Take Five." The shows played for three nights at Reynolds Hall at the University of Montevallo. The admission was five dollars for both students and adults.

For a second year in a row, Ross Chappell, director of the Drama students, coached the Moonlight Players to success. The performers had a blast playing different people and from the looks of it they were quite good at it.

Hunter Lawley and Amanda Wyatt rehearse for their upcoming play, "Look Who's Laughing." They, and all the other Moonlight Players, had a good time practicing and producing the play.

Jonathan Williams and Carrie Smitherman patiently wait for their lines. They both put on a great performance.

Leann Lamb and Jennifer Bowden recite their lines for their part in the Spring performance. They both practiced very hard for the show.

Amanda Wyatt screams at Carrie Smitherman so Carrie can hear what she is saying, while Jennifer Bowden looks to see what is on sale in the newspaper. Carrie played a deaf grandma that lost her hearing aid.

Keith Czeskleba and Hunter Lawley shake hands. They both were in the winter production and were a great success.

gives students interest in agribusiness and an opportunity to perform hands-on activities to prepare them for the future. Along with many other awards, when performing at the National Livestock Judging Contest, in Kansas City, they ranked top in the class. While competing alone, Jim Smith won the bronze medal, while Gretchen Berry captured the silver. Mary Laurel Blake was awarded ninth place in the nation overall for her winning steer. Ranging from building chairs to selling fruit, the activities to perform were endless. The annual fruit sale was once again successful this year. Among the items sold were apples, oranges, and mixed fruit. Overall, the FFA had another successful year.

Pierson Woods and Brad Lovejoy paste together their shelves. Shelf making was a popular activity with the students this year.

Mary Laurel Blake, Gretchen Berry, and Mr. Berry discuss the route to Kansas City. They traveled there to compete in the National Convention and performed very well.

"Competition in Kansas City was difficult, but we proved we could compete with the best," exclaimed Mary Laurel Blake.

World Class Cuisine

orld Class Cuisine brings to mind quality food, great chefs, and exotic menu items. National Honor Society, Math Team, and Scholar's Bowl contained just these items. The National Honor Society contained only the highest quality ingredients, taking only those seniors with a near perfect academic career. They performed many functions this year, among them scholarship recognition, and teacher appreciation week. "Putting up that bulletin board every six weeks was a challenge! It was very hard coming up with a new theme every time," said scholarship recognition chairperson Margaret Daum. As for great chefs, the Math Team was chock full. They practiced diligently every week to work on their math skills and sharpen their reflexes for the big tournament. Scholar's Bowl had to know facts from around the world for their competition, adding up to some exotic menu items. "You have to know so much about so many categories, and when you get to the match, there are still some things that elude you!" said Lauren Ryerson, a Scholar's Bowler for three years. These groups proved that they were truly World Class Cuisine.

With great care, Sandy Fochtmann, NHS Vice President, closes the A Honor Roll bulletin board. She and her fellow members were vital in this honors recognition each six weeks.

During a match at district competition, Varsity Scholar's Bowl members Jonathan Williams, Perry Lawley, Mitch Wyatt, and Michael Wynn work diligently on the third round work sheets. These extra points put them ahead to win the match.

Relaxing after a match, Jane Walker and Taylor Lightfoot contemplate their performance. Even for veterans like these, the day's matches were grueling.

Quality Ingredients

The menu is complete. The honesty and goodness has been added. First Priority held their annual event, See You at the Pole rally, along with other events and the bible studies held throughout the year. First Priority held their meetings in Mr. Blanton's room every Tuesday morning before school. Fellowship of Christian Athletes held many bible studies and other organized events. This group was directed by Robert George and held their meetings every Tuesday night at Montevallo First Baptist Church. FCA also held a Super Bowl party for 1998 in the high school auditorium. The party was a success. Yteria Tolbert quotes "The party was a success, with lots of food. We mainly just ate, played games, and enjoyed the time to relax.!" It gave the members a chance to kick back, relax and enjoy the game. The year was a success for both organizations that added the honest to goodness taste to the Bulldog Café's menu.

FCA sponsor, Coach George, talks with FCA members about the activities that he has planned for that night. The activities were a success and involved lots of fun and food.

Cooking With Spice

It certainly was a spicy year for Spanish Club and FHA, Future Homemakers of America. These are definitely extremely different clubs, but they have similar ways of accomplishing their goals. The sponsor for the Spanish Club, Mrs. Chappell, said, "they did some great things for people this year." The club made a Spanish breakfast for the teachers on Thanksgiving. They also made a Christmas Dinner and card to accompany it. Sponsor of FHA, Nancy Werbach, said that this year she worked with a great group of kids. They did a superb job with the responsibilities that they were handed this year.

This meal, like many others, was prepared deliciously by the FHA. Just the right amount of spices made these dishes wonderful!

The Key to the Café

Senior Kevin Conwell and Sophomore Katie McMinn put on their acting faces to do a production of the MHS TV News. Every broadcast displayed new faces with tons of talent.

Senior Tyeshia Prentice films a production for Mass Comm. All the students in the class had to learn how to run a camera.

Junior Jennifer Eaton films the Homecoming Dance for Mass Communications. This year's Mass Comm class attended a production competition on February 27 and 28.

This year, the mass comm class has done very well despite all the adversities that they have endured. With the wonderful leadership of Mr. Larry Haynes as the sponsor and the seniors that provide guidance and knowledge, the new members learned how to fill in the holes that are going to be left by the graduating seniors. The staff did a good job with meeting all their deadlines to produce a show every two weeks. Key club has had a very good impact on the community this year. With superb guidance from Mr. Tom Hester and excellent leadership from President Carrie Smitherman, every week the members would go to the Montevallo Elementary School to read to the kids. They have done the community a great service by teaching the young ones of the community.

Senior Jesus Juarez is an anchor and a producer. Jesus also was in charge of the music at the Miss MHS 1998.

Editors Perry Lawley and McShan Walker check a layout for errors. These two checked all the pages to make sure they kept their award winning look.

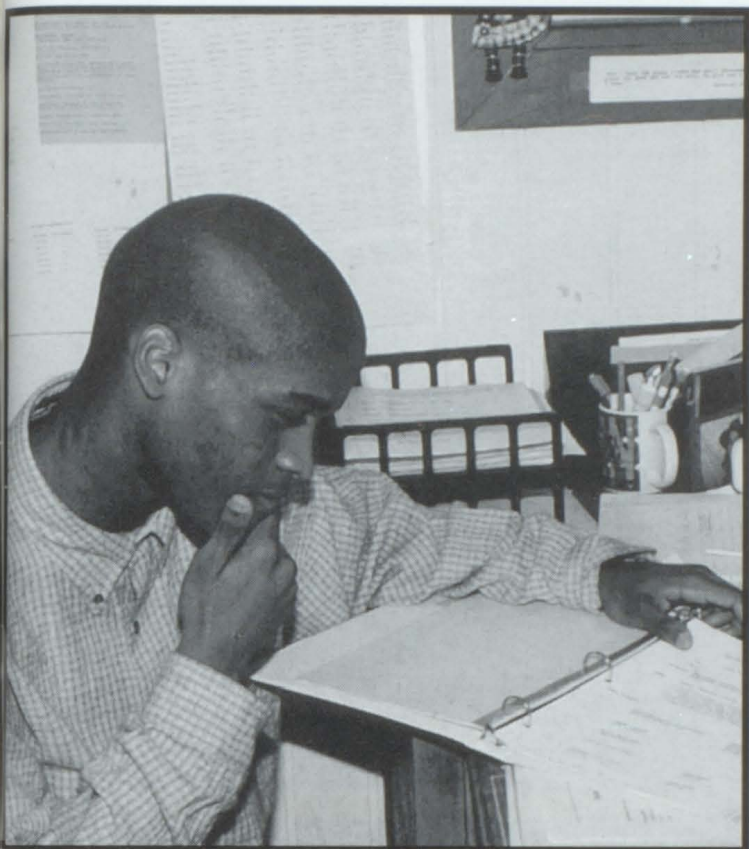

Justin Muehlbauer calls the person that handles the newspaper. Justin had a great time working on the Spotlight.

Colby Heath works on the computer so he can get his article typed. He got his article typed just in time so he could put it into the newspaper.

Food For Thought

The Spotlight Staff, every Friday, lays and prints out the events of the week. The head of the Spotlight Staff is Mr. Haynes. He assigns and assists the Spotlight members with their individual articles. Spotlight often surveys students on different topics about life. The surveys are distributed throughout the school to be answered. The staff often publishes quotes from these surveys. The week of February 9th-13th the Spotlight earned money by selling Valentine ads, balloons, flowers, and singing telegrams. The Spotlight staff often works overtime in order to publish an award winning newspaper.

McShan Walker calculates the statistics of a recent football game. McShan was an asset to the success of the paper.

Michael Wynn's hand on his chin says, "I don't know what to do." The Spotlight staff faced many tough decisions, but the hard work always seemed to pay off.

Sandra Jacks and Lauren Ryerson review the schedule for pictures. Picture day was one of the events Montala took part in.

Chip Jones gives Lacey Peebles a quick lesson on the skill of taking excellent pictures. Picture taking was an important part of being on the yearbook staff.

Margaret Daum reviews spreads completed by the staff. Editors continually checked spreads to make them acceptable.

Lauren Hendon works hard to make sure all the money balances out. Business editors were a vital aspect in the success of the yearbook.

A Sweet Reward

Montala works hard for seven months to give a sweet reward to the entire student body. Each member of the staff is required to raise $1,000 to contribute to the cost of a $15,000 yearbook. Not only does the staff work hard to put together a yearbook, they also schedule picture days. Montala is present on these days to be sure everything is running smoothly. Sponsor, Jan Rogers kept the staff on their toes with the help of Co-editors Margaret Daum and Sandy Fochtmann. Rookies learned quickly the importance of meeting deadlines. Staff meetings kept everyone aware of those deadlines. After a deadline passed the staff usually took a moment to relax and enjoy a bit of popcorn. The staff took a sudden shock when told that Mrs. Rogers would be leaving in January. The pressure was put on the editors to get the yearbook completed. With the knowledge they learned from Mrs. Rogers the task proved to be easier than they anticipated. When the yearbooks returned, the stress and hard work paid off with a sweet reward.

As the year draws to a close, we are reminded of what made this year special: friends, teachers, classes, activities, and sports. Each one flavored the 1998 school year in a different way. While some were just beginning to get a taste of the Bulldog Cafe's cuisine, others were preparing to finish the meal and head out into life. The seniors of 1998 had whipped up many memories, and the main with them for many years to come. These remnants were all that was left of the year, it could never be created again. Each person helped to add their own ingredients, and without the work of everyone, it could not have been possible. Whether the chefs or the patrons, the 1998 Bulldog Café was enjoyed by all.

After a strenuous day of pictures, yearbook staffer Yteria Tolbert takes a moment to relax and eat some pizza. Often, these snacks were what kept Montala going!

Students take a look at the lunch line for the day's choices. The lunchroom ladies provided a nutritious breakfast and lunch everyday for the students.

Coca-Cola provides drinks for many of the activities. This refreshment made the Big Brother/Big Sister program a big success.

The 1998 Montala was produced by four veteran staffers and seven rookies. Under the leadership of senior editors Margaret Daum and Sandy Fochtman, the year book was created using the Ultra Vision program to aid in its production. This year the Montala returned to the traditional spring delivery. The Bulldog Café, the theme of the 1998 Montevallo High School yearbook, and the cover design was thought up by the yearbook staff. The 1998 Montala is dedicated to former ninth grade physical science teacher and yearbook sponser Jan Rogers and to the Class of ....
